By Frank M. Luecke

The plight of the politician is sometimes an unhappy one, but never have we heard an anecdote equal to one related to us this week by Franklin Dusek, Cameron.

It seems that a politician was so distressed by the trend of his campaign that he decided to do away with himself.

With his mind made up, he made several purchases to ensure a satisfactory ending of his life. He bought, goes the story, a length of rope, some arsenic, a pistol and shells and some kerosene.

Taking his lethal array of materials with him, he boarded a rowboat in a river near his city. But prior to pushing off into the river, he doused himself with the kerosene.

Then, arriving below the low hanging branch of a tree, he slipped the noose of his rope over his head and tied the other end to the tree limb. Thereafter, he loaded his pistol and cocked back the hammer.

Then he stood up. And as he stood, he lighted his kerosene-doused clothing and swallowed the arsenic. Strange things were to follow.

As he stood, the boat began to rock, causing him to pull his gun, aimed at his temple, as he fired. The bullet cut the rope around his head. The same rocking motion caused him to regurgitate the arsenic and fall into the river, dousing his blazing clothes.

Then, with frantic, uncontrollable urge to save himself, he swam from what was supposed to be his watery grave to shore.

Back to safety, he was so happy to be alive that he gave up any notion of self destruction. And so the story goes, the last anyone ever heard of the man, he was still running for office.

99-99-99

The story was particularly appropriate during election week across the nation.

Some candidates may lightly enter into the idea after losing a close election. But for most of us, the idea makes an excellent story, but hardly an answer to our problems.

NM United Fund Extends Drive To November 15

The North Milam United Fund extended its drive to November 15 this week as rainy weather hampered county house-to-house drives, according to Don G. Humble, drive chairman.

He said that about $5,000 had been pledged in special gifts and personal pledges thus far.

Mrs. Lyle McDermott, chairman of the house-to-house drive, noted reports from about half of her eight county districts. She said that bad roads and weather hampered solicitations.

Workers are hoping to reach a goal of $12,850 set by North Milam Fund directors for the seven-agency drive.

Workers in 14 North Milam communities and Cameron were under the direction of eight chairmen.

Included in the drive agencies are: Salvation Army, Red Cross, Heart Fund, Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts, North Milam Charities, and Library fund.

Officials appealed for pledges rather than cash at this stage of the campaign to boost the move toward its goal.

The drive, originally scheduled to end last week, will continue to November 15, Humble emphasized, allowing ample time for everyone to be called and make pledges.

The special gifts drive in downtown Cameron has netted about $4,500 of the goal, he noted.

Countians Cast 2,300 Votes, Approve Four Amendments

Ballots Favor

4 Amendments

To State Laws

Countians approved four of the nine constitutional amendments on the general election ballot Tuesday.

Unofficial Herald tabulations showed that Milam voters favored Amendments 3, 4, 6 and 8. How this turn of events fitted into the state vote on the amendments was indecisive at presstime.

In approving the four amendments, the 2,300 voters okayed: Amendment 3, allowing unexpired county and justice judges' terms to be filled by county commissioners;

Amendment 4, calling for office holders seeking election to another position to resign if more than one year remains;

Amendment 6, providing a pension to retired Texas rangers;

Amendment 8, empowering the legislature to give additional aid to needy, dependent children, etc.

The count went for the favored amendments: No. 3—1265 to 664; No. 4—1117 to 801; No. 6—1034 to 901; and No. 8—1033 to 871.

Disapproved by county voters were amendments 1, 2, 5, 7 and 9. Amendment 1 called for a salary boost to legislators and annual sessions.

Amendment 2 would authorize retirement and disability plan for elective officers of the county and precinct.

Amendment 5 would allow charter cities to extend the two-year terms of officers to four years.

Amendment 7 called for advertising the state of Texas with state funds.

Amendment 9 would authorize the Legislature to create a hospital district in three Texas counties.

Duo Rescues Driver From Flaming Auto

A 42-year-old Ben Arnold man is alive today after being pulled from his flaming automobile by a Cameron Youth and an unidentified Fort Hood soldier.

Frank Newton, Ben Arnold, was saved from near-certain death in his overturned Buick stationwagon 1 a.m. Monday by Archie Mraz senior at Yoe High School, and an unidentified Fort Hood soldier.

Newton's vehicle apparently had sideswiped the abutment of the Elm Creek Bridge, two miles north of Cameron US 77 burst into flames as it overturned and trapped the lone driver at the wheel.

Highway Patrolman Jack Straley told The Herald that the rescuers definitely saved Newton's life.

Newton was driving north on US 77 to his Ben Arnold home when the accident occurred. The Cameron Fire Department was called to the scene.

Minor Injuries

He suffered only minor cuts and bruises. His rescuers were uninjured.

Straley described the incident this way: Mraz and two other Cameron youths, Roger Terry and Stanley Glaser, drove upon the scene from the north shortly after Newton's car overturned and burst into flame.

The Fort Hood soldier, in another car, and Mraz approached the blazing vehicle to find Newton unable to escape. While Terry and Glaser went to call for an ambulance, the soldier kicked out the windshield of the Newton vehicle.

Then he and Mraz reached through the windshield to him. The Newton vehicle blocked the bridge roadway for 45 minutes before traffic could get through, Straley continued.

Newton was brought into a Cameron hospital by the old Maysfield Road after being freed from the wreck.

Straley said the stationwagon was a total loss.

The state highway patrolman said that confusion developed before he arrived on the scene when a caller identified the bridge as the Brazos River Bridge. Another unit from Hearn checked that Bridge while Straley went to the Elm Creek crossing.

Mraz modestly acknowledged his part in helping Newton from the flaming car. He was quick to give the soldier most of the credit for the rescue.

Voters Favor

Stock Control

In Milam Poll

With two small precincts uncoun- ted, Herald election tabulations showed a light 2,300 vote in the Tuesday general election that heavily endorsed the Democratic nominees and Amendments No. 3, 4, 6 and 8.

Bushdale and Friendship were the only unreported precincts out of 38 at presstime. Voting was generally light throughout the county. An official vote count was to come.

County voters favored the stock law issue 1,557 to 380 which would mean no open ranging for cattle. Milam Countians balloted a total 1535 to 362 against the horse, mule hog free ranging of those livestock in Milam County.

Overwhelming approval for the unopposed county Democratic nominees was voted Tuesday. Elected by large majorities were: H. D. Maxwell, county superintendent; Don G. Humble, county judge; Wayne B. Wieser, county clerk; Mrs. Ida Johns, county treasurer; W. P. Talafus, county surveyor; and Max McFarland, county Democratic chairman.

Two Democratic county commissioners were elected when R. H. McCasland and LaVern McKinney, Precincts 4 and 2 respectively, drew heavy voter endorsement. Seven justices of the peace were re-elected.

In the district voting, Milam County went strong as expected for Democrats Bob Poage, congressman for 11th district, Herman Yezak, state representative, and Grady Allen, district court clerk.

On the state level, county voters gave Gov. Price Daniel a 2187 nod over Republican Edwin S. Mayer's 90 votes.

In the Yarborough-Roy Whittenburg race for the U. S. Senate, countians polled 2004 for Yarborough and 242 for Whittenburg.

Other races and their outcomes were: Lieutenant-governor, Ben Ramsey 2206, Philip Eubank, 24; attorney general, Will Wilson, 2205 McDonald 18.

In the agriculture race John C. White tallied 2119 county votes compared to 111 for Republican Grover Carother and 6 for Constitutionite H. W. Hogan.

Milam County went with Texas in a strong Democratic vote as states throughout the United States turned out Republicans for Democratic candidates.

We invite a closer look...
25% OF ALL TP&L REVENUE GOES FOR TAXES

Not too many years ago taxes took only a small part of a company's income and one man could often take care of a big company's tax books. In today's industrial economy taxes are heavy and large departments are needed to handle tax records. A close look at the TP&L ledger shows that, today, taxes represent the largest single expenditure. Yes, 25 cents out of every dollar received from TP&L customers for electric services is returned in the form of city, state and federal taxes. These taxes benefit in helping pay the cost of street programs and maintenance, municipal buildings and courts, schools and teachers' salaries, public welfare projects and many other community works. Since 1936, in spite of a 162% increase in taxes and other rising costs of doing business, the average price per kilowatt-hour paid for your residential electricity is 43% less today. As a good taxpaying citizen, TP&L pledges continued support of the communities it serves, as well as increasingly efficient operation to keep the price of its electric service low.

Electricity is the biggest bargain in your family budget.

SW Conference Sports Tom Murray's Column

SEVENTY TWO thousand Rice fans, and a few who feel kindly toward furriners, will gather at the Owls' expansive layout Saturday night to determine if that slaughter of Texas was authentic. There were folks who swore Jess Neely's Owls were playing a "once in a life-time perfect game," in administering a fearful 34-7 beating to the then fourth ranked Longhorns.

Should the Owls beat powerful Army in their Houston dust bowl, the job they did on Darrell Royal's Steers will pale in comparison and TCU, the Aggie and Baylor might as well go out for more bandages.

For Earl Blaik's Army legions are enjoying their greatest prestige since the super-human efforts of All-America Glenn Davis and his battering teammate, Felix (Doc) Blanchard.

When Gordon Speer, Jon Schnable, J. D. Smith, Buddy Dial and company tee up after a week's rest, they will face a formidable Army eleven, with its best one-two punch since the Davis-Blanchard era.

All-America Halfback Bob Anderson and Peter Dawkins, who may displace him as Army's leading ball-carrier, must be something to behold if their publicity is only half true.

Then there is Army's lonesome end, the man Blaik flankers so wide he must carry a lunch, and the not-so-lonesome Don Usry at the other flank. Usry is the Cleburne lad Army wooed away from their cousin Texas Aggies.

As Morris Frank would say, "Us old Owls," do not go for that Yankee publicity. Here is a vote for Rice to do it again, about 27-14.

EL CAMPO's Donald Gann is a starting guard at Sul Ross. Silsbee may have the collegiate scouts come calling if Fullback Mike McMahon keeps rolling. Did you know that Bay City Daily Tribune Editor Russ Parker and the Fort Worth Press' Dan Jenkins were Texas' only daily writers with sufficient nerve to select Texas over Oklahoma, prior to the game? Most second-guessing groups meet the Monday after a football game. But not in Kenedy, where the quarter-back club convenes Friday morning, so they can give the coach that last word of advice. There were 700 fans who swarmed on that special 14-car train to follow Cameron's Yoe High to Bellville right into a 22-13 defeat. Navasota's Rattlers broke one of Texas' longest losing streak with their 16-14 victory over Livingston. Lew's Ford, Port Neches' former state championship coach, now relaxing as an elementary principal, bought the first ticket he ever purchased to watch the Indians outscore Nederland. He forked over $1.25 for the thing. Liberty Publisher Jake Smyth, an old-time west Texas sports writer, has a unique column head, "Give Me Liberty Or Give Me The Trinity." Brazosport Sports Editor Bill McMurray says Billy Joe Pursley, Angleton's All-District Fullback, ruled ineligible this fall, will matriculate at the University of Houston. Brazosport's long-range football plans may be ready to pay off, with James Cox's unbeaten Storm Squad breezing along. College scouts are zeroing in on Lockhart's Rudy Schroeder. Schulenburg's pulse will be tuned in on Houston Saturday, where hometown favorite, Billy Buck, performs at halfback against Army. Cuero's Gobblers are indicative of the colorful names Texas high schools give their athletic teams. One of the strangest mix-ups, or situations, involves White Face, Texas, and Hereford, Texas. You guessed it—It is the Whiteface Herefords and the Hereford Whitefaces. As Earl Wilson would say, It's Tom to go!

NOT RARE TODAY

"I was figuring on starting some kind of business, but most every business is already engaged in more than is necessary; and then I ain't got no business ability. What I want is something that don't call for no kind of ability whatsoever and no kind of exertion to speak of, and ain't out of town, and pays good, and has a future." Alligators sometimes die because they don't know enough to back out of holes. This might be worked into a parable for diplomats.

Annual Farm-Ranch Credit School Is Scheduled At College Station

CROSS FENCING PASTURES

Are your better grazing areas being ruined because your livestock have "bad grazing habits?" If they are, you might like to do something about them. Cross-fencing is the remedy, and the sooner you get the cross fences in the sooner your pasture will begin to improve. The best method of following is to fence small areas of comparable forage over the entire trap, then rotate your stock as the grass becomes depleted. If you cultivate your pastures you might want to put up temporary cross fences, but no matter how you go about it those pastures need a rest.

equipment, now is the time to start thinking about storing your combine, balers and other complicated machinery. These are the most susceptible of all to depreciation from weathering. The best place for them is inside away from the elements. More simple tools like disks, harrows and rakes need to be scraped clean of rust and corrosive material and painted. Make the necessary repairs now and that little job will be done when you need your tools next spring.

Anti-freeze is not too far away. Don't get caught without that little item if you plan to leave water in your radiator all winter.

SCREW WORM ERADICATION

Screw worm eradication is off to a flying start this year, and USDA officials are optimistic about ridding the Southeast of the destructive livestock pest—which costs producers about $26 million in losses each year.

USDA reports only 2 cases of screw worms north of the Florida state line by August 13—an "unusually low incidence." Two reasons: (1) the cold 1957-58 winter which reduced populations, and (2) a headstart in the 1958 program in releasing sterilized male flies in some areas.

Eradication is based on the dramatic thesis that release of enough sterile male flies will eventually end the screw worm population. The flies are sterilized in the pupal stage by exposure to gamma rays, and then released.

Report On Pink Bollworm

Residents of Milam County and non-resident cotton growers will be pleased to learn that the splendid cooperation of everyone connected with cotton growing in the County at the end of the 1957 cotton-growing season resulted in a lower build up of pink bollworms during the current year than was feared.

Because some stalks were destroyed late due to flood waters it was feared that the carryover would be heavier than usual. It was slightly heavier in the current crop than in 1957, but could have been much worse had growers not done a good job of destruction when they finally did get to their stalks with shredders and plows.

However, the story is not as encouraging with the old arch enemy of the cotton grower, the cotton boll weevil. The boll weevil passes the winter as an adult and feeds as long as there is green cotton growth before going into hibernation for the overwintering period. The starvation period last winter was short because of much late destruction, and many more adult weevils made it into cotton fields in the spring of 1958 to build up rapidly. This condition resulted in more noticeable damage and loss in the 1958 cotton season.

Starvation of the boll weevil keeps all the insecticides now known for boll weevil control. The earlier stalks are destroyed the longer the starvation period and the fewer weevils make it. There is green growth in some fields where defoliant was used and shredding was done earlier. This green growth is feeding boll weevils at this time. Many homes are found with small patches of cotton around the houses growing more weevils than cotton. They should be destroyed promptly.

J. W. Monk, Bryan, district leader for the district including Milam County, has made and accumulated a number of slides with which he gives illustrated talks to school classes, farmers meetings, and local service clubs. His services may be secured for day or evening meetings of interested groups by contacting him. Let's kill two birds with one stone when we destroy boll weevils and pink bollworms by early stalk destruction. Begin now to save our 1959-crop.

Agent Describes Fall Care For Lawn Grasses

By Alice G. Hughes

Home Demonstration Agent

Lawn grasses will go into the winter in a vigorous condition if they are well nourished. When lawn grasses go into the winter in a healthy vigorous condition, winter and spring weeds have less chance to grow and are less of a problem. Grasses will remain green longer in the fall and will grow off earlier in the spring.

A complete fertilizer should be applied to the lawn about a month before the first frost is expected. In Central and South Texas there is still time to do this work, but it should be done as soon as possible. Fertilizer should be applied at a rate to supply 2 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 sq. ft. of lawn. Even though some areas do not need potash for crop production, using a complete fertilizer containing some potash is good insurance on lawns. The cost is small and the results may be very good.

In applying the fertilizer, divide it into two equal parts, spreading one half in one direction on the lawn and the remaining half at right angle to the first application.

The Extension Service bulletin "Home Lawns," which contains information on care and establishment of lawns is available from the county Extension office.

Cotton Quota Set For U.S. Acreage

COLLEGE STATION—A national marketing quota of 12,167,000 bales, a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres and a date set, December 15, for a farmer referendum on marketing quotas for upland cotton have been set by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

All are in accordance with present legislation covering cotton. In setting the national marketing quota figure the Secretary found that the total supply of upland cotton exceeds the normal supply needed by 4,379,900 bales. The national acreage allotment for 1959 will be apportioned to the states, the state allotment to the counties and the county allotments to farms according to the provisions of the law.

If marketing quotas for 1959 are approved—it takes a two-thirds favorable vote—in the December 15 referendum, the cotton grower will have a choice between two known as Choice A and B.

Under A, growers who comply with their regular acreage allotment will have available price support at not less than 80 per cent of parity. Growers under Choice B receive larger farm allotments—40 per cent above the regular allotment—but with a reduction of 15 per cent of parity in the support price as compared with Choice A.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1959 upland cotton crop, only the regular allotment program will be in effect. Price support will be available to cooperators at 50 per cent of parity as provided by law. Under the 1959 quota program and in accordance with controlling legislation, growers who exceed their chosen farm acreage allotments will be subject to penalties of 50 per cent of the cotton parity price as of June 15, 1959 on the farm's excess production. Too, all cotton produced on the farm will be ineligible for price support.

A&M Lists Tips For Poultrymen

COLLEGE STATION—Hatchery flockowners can make the hard job of blood testing much easier by following a few labor-saving tips, says Bill Cawley, Department of Poultry Science, Texas A&M College.

Build a catching pen next to the partition that divides the house, suggests Cawley. The pen should be built in the end of the house containing the birds.

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce is offering the latest opportunity to Milam Countians who want to work up a float and participate in a festive parade. The occasion will be the annual Chamber Christmas parade December 5 and Santa's early - season visit to Cameron.

What better opportunity is there to add to the colorful Christmas season than during a Christmas parade? Invitations are out to all Chamber members and groups wishing to compete for the float prize.

The annual Chamber parade is the highlight of the early Yuletide season and attracts about 4,000-5,000 people each running.

If Cameron can generate the enthusiasm commensurate with the anticipated county interest in the occasion, then the parade and Santa's visit will bring even more countians to our fair city.

There is nothing like a parade. And put Santa and his sleigh in it and you have real excitement. We recall last year's Christmas event. Ol' Saint Nick just about was mobbed by his hundreds of Milam County admirers.

Knowing the past success of the event, it behooves Cameron to devote extra energy each year into a rousing, growing success of a parade.

In fact the entire Christmas season gives Cameron something to shout about. We have the Jaycees' Santa Pal project, which takes discarded Christmas toys and reworks them for who kids who have little more than the image of Santa for their Christmas.

When we put the two projects together, we have worthwhile enthusiasm. It is for the betterment of town, county and all our citizens.

Sage Wonders How Anybody Could
Inject Foreign Policy Into Politics

Dear editor:

There has been a lot of discussion in the newspapers the past year over the plight of the small farmer, and lots of experts have been worrying about him. They're afraid he'll get discouraged and have to give up farming and move to town.

As a result, a lot of thinking has been going on about the problem, and I was reading in an article last night where some experts studying the matter have decided one way to keep the farmer on the farm is to make his work lighter. For example, they said, farmers ought to use their brains and figure out short cuts for themselves, and they threw in a suggestion of their own as a starter. Why not, they said, "put cows up on a platform so the dairyman can milk them as he stands? This would save a lot of stooping."

The main trouble with this is that I doubt if it takes any more work to stoop to milk a cow than it does to reach to build a platform for them to stand on, not to mention getting the feed up there to them twice a day. Personally, if I was milking a bunch of cows, which I'm not, and was opposed to longer-legged cows or shorter-legged men.

The trouble with using brains and science to lighten the load of farming is that this works up to certain point, but it generally stops at the edge of the field, leaving nobody but the farmer to go up one row and down another, in between rains.

Science is wonderful, but I've noticed that in the most modern business, with every labor-saving device known to man, or on the most modern farm, with every scientific improvement available, still the man who gets the furthest ahead generally is the one who works the hardest, with the longest hours.

That's where science breaks down. However, it's where I take over.

After years of studying the problem, I know how to lighten the work on a farm. It's simple. Just skip about half of what you're supposed to do. Understanding, of course, that this is for the well-run farm. On mine, I skip about three-fourths.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Savings Started Then...

It was some 340 years ago that the Pilgrims hewed a home and life from a wilderness. And it was there that saving began in the U. S. They knew that saving for difficult times was wise and necessary. Just as today, those who plan ahead know that saving the Citizens National way will provide a brighter future!

Oil Industry Wants
Import RestrictionsBy Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas' No. 1 industry is still "up against it." Oil industry leaders and state government officials are pressing harder for an effective federal plan to restrict oil imports.

Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, has called for "positive remedial action immediately."

"Oil and oil products imported into the United States continue to mount and absorb more and more of our domestic market demand," said Thompson. "This restricts domestic exploration and development and continues to make the United States more and more dependent on foreign oil. Foreign oil cannot be counted as available in case of war."

Thompson implored that he thought mandatory limits on oil importing should be set. "At present only a voluntary limitation program is in effect," Thompson noted that lead and zinc imports had been cut by presidential order and "some such action must be taken in regard to imports of oil and petroleum products."

In meetings over the state, industry spokesmen talked in equally urgent terms. Lester Clark, Breckenridge producer, told the Independent Petroleum Association of America that the oil business is "sick."

"Since 1955, total well completions are off 21 per cent, exploratory crews have fallen 25 per cent, wildcatting is down 28 per cent and rotary rigs are off 33 per cent," reported Clark.

At another meeting the Gulf Coast Association of Geological Societies was told that during the first half of this year total oil imports increased 5.3 per cent while domestic demand slumped 4.7 per cent below the 1957 average. Impact of this on the domestic industry was a 13.7 per cent cut-back and a $3,000,000 a day loss in income.

Foreign oil production is increasing faster than foreign demand. Jerome J. O'Brien of Monterey Oil Co. told the geological group. Foreign oil interests, therefore, are dependent on getting a share of American buying—the one big oil market in the world. Biggest question in the industry, said O'Brien, is who will get this American market.

Undersecretary of the Interior Elmer F. Bennett told Texans the President's special cabinet committee on fuels is studying proposed plans to cut back imports. But, he said, the administration would not be "stamped into mandatory controls."

TOUCHY TOPIC

Next legislature is forewarned of the difficulties that will be in-involved in passing any law on industrial safety.

A meeting of the Joint Commission on Industrial Safety developed ended in a deadlock. Commission Chairman M. B. Blair wanted the group to approve and recommend to the legislature a plan for a state system of safety regulation and inspection in industry. Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas urged that no recommendation be made until public hearings had been held to get labor and employer views. Blair's proposal was rejected.

END OF ROAD

Former Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe has lost what apparently is the last battle in his fight against a two-year prison sentence. Court of Criminal Appeals slammed the door when it refused Cox a re-hearing. Cox was convicted in a Travis County Court last fall. In June the Appeals Court, by a 2-1 decision, upheld the conviction.

Gen. Kerr Draws
Command Of 49th
Staff Promotion

Brig. Gen. Clayton P. Kerr, who made a command inspection of Milam County's Battery C, 649th AAA Battalion two weeks ago, was promoted to major general and will take over command of the 49th Armored Division November 1, it was announced today.

He will succeed Major Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson, who is retiring.

The command inspection of Battery C was believed to be the last such inspection which Gen. Kerr made before receiving his new assignment.

He was accompanied on his visit to the Cameron armory by a number of high-ranking Regular Army and National Guard officers from Division Artillery and Battalion headquarters in Temple. During the drill period he questioned a number of the Guardsmen in ranks on their jobs assignments in the Battery, and also observed their class instruction, and indicated he was well pleased with the men's appearance and training. Gen. Kerr is a veteran of World War II and was with the 36th Division in the bitter Italian campaign. After returning from active duty in 1945, he helped to organize the new 49th Armored Division whose units are scattered halfway across Texas from the Panhandle to Houston. He has been commanding General of Division Artillery for the past several years. In civilian life he is a home builder and contractor.

Story Of Cameron Business Leadership

'59 Dodge Offers Style, Comfort, Economy

The tail fins of 1959 Dodge cars, like this Custom Royal four-door Lancer, have softer, more flaring lines. A new high-contour roof provides more headroom and allows easier entry and exit. New engines and advanced torsion-bar suspension provide greater gas and tire economies.

Schiller Motors Shows 1959 Dodge In Modern Display Room

Driver comfort, convenience and control features — including swing out, swivel seats — highlight the 1959 Dodge, while jet-age refinements of the dart look create a new and distinctive exterior design now on display at Schiller Motors.

The swivel-type front seats, an instrument panel concentrated more closely around a new "easy-to-get-by" steering wheel, plus pushbutton control of virtually all driver operations, head the list of 1959 advancements inside the new cars.

New styling treatment of both front and rear, side and roof, and sharply defined, canted rear fins introduce a dramatically new concept of styling.

Ride-ability and roadability of the 1959 Dodge have been improved through advances in the Torsion-Aire suspension system, coupled with optional rear-end Level-Flite suspension.

Additional new, designed-for-the-driver features of the Dodge include: (1) push-button controls for the heater and air-conditioner, (2) a safety speedometer which changes color as speed increases, (3) an electronic rearview mirror that automatically cuts glare from overtaking car headlights, (4) an outside rear-view mirror that can be controlled from inside, (5) and automatic headlight dimmer, and (6) a higher steering wheel that is slightly flattened at the top, affording better road vision and at the same time, making it easier for the driver to get in and out of the car.

A striking exterior design is keyed by arched headlight "eye-brows" which curve inward and downward to the front grille. New taillights — patterned after jet-tubes — and new rear-end "control surfaces" on the fins provide a fleet, futuristic image.

Located at the intersection US 77 - US 190 and SH 36, Schiller

Motors features a one-stop service at the agency auto department and at Schiller's Humble Service Station.

The aggressive Dodge-Plymouth dealership is ably managed by Partners Milton J. Schiller and Jerry B. Schiller.

"Our one-stop service includes a complete wash, lubrication and polish service plus minor repair or a major overhaul if the motorist's car needs it," Milton Schiller says.

Schiller Motors employs a staff of 16 competent people to make Schiller Motors and Service Station truly a one-stop auto center.

Besides selling 1959 Plymouths and Dodge cars and trucks Schiller's are adding a wide selection of used cars to their sales department on a lot across from the agency on SH 36.

Waits returned the kickoff to the Rogers 30 where C. Waits got 6 and J. Waits picked up 8 good enough for a first down. The Waits boys handled the ball two more plays but got nowhere.

C. Waits then dropped back to pass and threw one to senior end Gary Tucker who raced to the goal line 56 yards from the line of scrimmage.

A pass to Holmes was good for the two extras and the score was 26-8 in favor of the Yoemen of Cameron.

Cameron was penalized for 15 yards before they got off a 50 yard punt. Rogers punted on fourth down and Cameron took over a gain on the Rogers 46.

Bernay Dusek at fullback picked up 4 yards and Josey broke loose for a 39 yard first just three yards from the goal. Dodson fell a yard short on a 2 yard plunge.

Dusek Scores Fullback Bernay Dusek went through the center for the TD from the one for the score. The pass from Kirk intended for George Zarosky was incomplete.

Neither team saw much offensive action for a few plays before Mraz broke loose for 17 yards and Kirk punted for 38.

Rogers took control on their own 40 and picked up 3. Mraz intercepted a pass on the 37 and ran it back 6 yards to the 43.

Three things happened that were slightly unusual for the Yoemen the next two plays. Raymond Tepera at offensive guard somehow got his hands on the ball and provided that he could have been a fullback by going through the middle picking up yards on the play.

Carroll Fikes, sophomore halfback, got away a punt good for 34 yards.

Rogers took charge on the 6 and reached the 18 on a first where Griffin Barrett after a 3-yard Rogers gain intercepted a pass and ran it back 28 yards over the goal, for his first score of the season.

The extra point attempt failed. That took care of the scoring with the game ending at Cameron 38, Rogers 8.
